Newsletter for October 2017

There are no changes anticipated for Social Security, Medicare or Federal retirement benefits anticipated when the Senate budget committee meets this week.

I have received no questions this month on Social Security.

Medicare open enrollment for health plans starts October 15th and ends on December 7th. Look the plans over at medicare.gov .

Federal employees, it looks as though the Budget Committee will raise the buyout amount and will add an inflation rule for future buyouts.

There is, as of now, no information on health insurance rates for 2018. I will keep you posted. Open season for employees and retirees will be held from November 13th until December 11th. Please read the plans you are eligible to enroll in.

Those who have taken my retirement seminars may contact me by email or phone.
